How to Respond to a Request for a Syllabus An Important Message from your Articulation Officer

Hello Mesa Community,

Welcome Back to the Spring Semester!

Former students, colleges and universities may request to receive a course syllabus from you. The reason for the request is usually due to the need for an evaluation of a course for equivalency in meeting an academic requirement in a major or for graduation.

The official document that is provided by California Community Colleges to appropriately evaluate courses in meeting an academic requirement, is the course outline of record (COR). The COR is the document that is used by Articulation Officers in establishing and maintaining articulation agreements.

There have been recent challenges with establishing and maintaining articulation agreements. Several colleges and universities have denied equivalency/articulation proposals due to the use of the syllabus, instead of the information contained in our syllabi varies and often lacks the necessary content required for course equivalency/articulation evaluation.

I respectfully request that you do not provide a syllabus to anyone other than students enrolled in your current courses. If a request for a syllabus is received, please direct the individual to CurricUNET <http://www.curricunet.com/SDCCD/> to obtain a COR. Active CORs are available to the public without the need for a user name or password. For tracking purposes, please copy me in your message when responding to such requests. Requests may also be re-directed to Sue Saetia at ssaetia@sdccd.edu.

Thank you for your continued contribution to articulation efforts.

ADT/C-ID Resolution Passed by the Academic Senate for California Community Colleges (ASCCC)

#15.02 F16 Approval of Associate Degrees for Transfer That Include Courses Pending C-ID Approval

Whereas, Twenty-five of California's 113 community colleges have been able to meet the legislative mandate to develop Associate Degrees for Transfer as required by California Education Code §66746(b), and the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office requires that courses submitted for the Associate Degree for Transfer demonstrate approval from the California Course Identification Numbering (C-ID) System;

Whereas, C-ID course approval requires review by at least one discipline faculty member from both the California community colleges and the California State University;

Whereas, A lack of California State University faculty reviewers in multiple disciplines has meant that many California community colleges are unable to obtain C-ID approval in a timely manner, thereby resulting in an inability to submit an application for Associate Degree for Transfer programs despite the fact that the college offers the requisite, articulated curriculum; and

Whereas, Community colleges with the appropriate curriculum are prohibited from applying for and offering the mandated Associated Degrees for Transfer because of a lack of C-ID approvals, which results in student transfer opportunities being severely restricted and even eliminated;

Resolved, That the Academic Senate for California Community Colleges collaborate with the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office to implement an approval process for Associate Degrees for Transfer in which courses pending C-ID approval may be included in the degree if the program application demonstrates evidence that those courses have been submitted to and are under review in the C-ID System (e.g., submitted, in progress, conditional and/or approved); and

Resolved, That the Academic Senate for California Community Colleges work with the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office to regularly assess the effectiveness and efficiency of program requirements for Associate Degrees for Transfer (ADT) including, but not limited to, any revision to the application process to provide flexibility in ADT submission and approval anytime there is clear evidence that responses to C-ID submissions take more than 45 days.

Transfer Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) Best Practice

The CIAC has determined that establishing MOUs agreements related to transfer may not be beneficial due to the following:

1. Articulation agreements and/or transfer admission guarantees provide avenues that appear most effective in serving the needs of transfer students.
2. MOUs are often used as marketing tools for institutions attempting to differentiate themselves from their competitors. By entering into such an agreement, it may appear that a college is essentially endorsing a particular institution over all others. As a matter of equality, colleges are encouraged to provide opportunities for recruitment and promotion equitably among transfer institutions.
3. Offers of financial benefits that are included in MOUs are often used as promotional tools by institutions. Financial opportunities can be provided to students without an MOU. The financial obligations required for attendance at an institution is a confidential matter between the student and the institution, and not between institutions.
4. MOUs may impart a preferential status between the participating institutions. An MOU may give the false impression to students that enrollment at a particular institution is more advantageous than at any other, which may or may not be the case.
5. The legal ramifications in establishing an MOU agreement may pose a greater risk, than benefit, to institutions and/or transfer students.

It is highly recommended that institutions consider publishing a statement regarding their involvement with MOUs.
